Dick & Howard.

Today's mail included letter from both or you, HR's to be answered later, for it takes longer to reach Dick and I have to go to town shortly. Dick was undeted, unpostmarked, and included the great kindness, the page from four Day, which illustrates the point I see Dick understands very well: for the hales to be where they are in the mackband there has to be a hole through that tie, and there isn't. I am aware of the pictures referred to, and others, but there is little chance the Dallas papers will give me a copy. I must try and remember to ask Mary, who will he here next month, for she may be able to get or may already have. I think you can both understand what I can now do with this, having the pictures I already have and suing for others. I'd prefer no correspondence or other palaver about it now, for the work as its stands is definitive enough, and I've been able to accomplish the impossible, get a definitive and official ruling on the relevance and integrity of the reason for the denial. When I saw Bud inursday, with too many other people and late to cause I had to be scrounging for immediate money (the first time I recall ever bei lete for any appointment since the assassination), I gave him toe draft of the complaint and asked him to go over it first. He said he couldn't, being too basy (ne has about finished redding the one on the spectro, waich he'll handle in court), so I got him to guve it to a recent law-school grad who is helping him, for I want to ress this one immediately.

I'll have this picture in one of two files, so we can both find it so I can return it: FBI Ex 60, the old designation for the file on this suit, or subordinate in the special file, Clothing. Do not let me forget, and I do appreciate it. It is already so filed, but things nappen in a urt and in preparing for court.

Assuming my correctness, that there had to have been a hole in the tie for the neckband holes to have come from a bullet or any kind of fragment, it, ight help HR if you'd explain the kind of wound there'd have to be for the bullet to have gone through either the anterior skin or that and the hirt and then to have plopped, with no damage to the tie or a mere nick on the side. I think this addresses his recent theories.

I expect to get to the cenera shop, and I'll be taking the negatibe for further neckband enlargement. I was not able to because of the DC-money problem and the helping of the men who gave me the Gemenaster. Does your mouth water? If you want it, your credit is good, but I'll be trying to seal it because Ido need some dough. It is handsome, even to me, and I'm no buff. I've spoken to the rangementer, who thinks he can move it easily.

Best.
